FUND COMMENTARY

April 2026 was characterised by exceptionally strong equity market performance, backed by accelerating earnings growth in the technology sector. The US market delivered its best monthly performance since 2020. The Taiwanese and South Korean markets, which produce most of the semiconductors used in artificial intelligence, were also very strong, supported by chip exports surging 173% in April as semiconductor demand remained robust. The Japanese market saw tech strength, while European and Chinese markets, which both export less technology, did rise but to a lesser extent than the tech-led regions.

This rally was despite the ongoing conflict in Iran, and crude oil reaching a four-year high. Ordinarily this would put a damper on stock market performance, as was the case in March – but rising business investment into AI provided more than a counterbalance to rising energy costs. The Federal Reserve held US interest rates steady in April, as was widely expected: the Committee has to balance the signals from strong capital investment and industrial production, with the check to consumer consumption expected from high gas prices. Over the month, the US dollar weakened slightly. The US economy remains resilient.

Consensus 12-month forward earnings expectations for the S&P 500 Index rose significantly during April, driven by the technology and energy sectors. The S&P 500 is now expected to deliver just over 28% growth in 12-month forward earnings.

The strongest contributions to the Fund over April were from Broadcom, Alphabet, Eaton, Amazon and ASML. Each of these companies are integral to the development and deployment of AI at scale. Broadcom's expanded deals with Alphabet, Meta and Anthropic over the month are demonstrative of its central role in the AI ecosystem. Outside AI, it was pleasing to see strong earnings results lead to strong stock price performance for West Pharmaceuticals, the liquid drug packaging company which is one of the Fund's newest holdings. Detractors included Accenture, the technology consultancy, where the market appears still to worry that it will be replaced as a middleman by technology companies reaching their market directly; and EssilorLuxottica, where though the strengths of the core glasses-and-frames business are clear as ever, there are signs of rising competition in the AI glasses part of its offer.

OUTCOME OF FAIR VALUE ASSESSMENTS (2025)

Our assessment confirms:

- The Fund meets the needs of the target market.
- The intended distribution strategy remains appropriate.
- The Fund provides fair value to customers.

INVESTOR PROFILE

The Fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds, it is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and looking for capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment. Investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

- Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return
- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- Do not intend to invest for the long term

RISK PROFILE

The Fund is not guaranteed and your investment is at risk. The value of your investment may go down as well as up. The Fund may enter into derivative agreements with counterparties, and consequently there is a risk that a counterparty may fail to meet its obligations. This may lead to delays in the Fund receiving amounts due to it, receiving less than is due or receiving nothing. As the Fund has exposure to overseas securities, movements in exchange rates may, when not hedged, cause the value of your investment to increase or decrease. The Fund invests in equity and equity related securities which are subject to various risks including fluctuations in market prices, adverse issuer or market information and the fact that equity and equity related securities are subordinate in the right of payment to other corporate securities, including debt securities. The value of equity securities varies with the performance of the respective issuers and movements in equity markets generally. As a result, the Fund may suffer losses if it invests in equity of issuers where performance falls below market expectations or if equity markets in general decline or the Fund has not hedged against such a general decline. The Fund may hold a relatively small number of stocks (approximately 20 to 30 positions) as compared to many other funds. This may make the Fund's performance more volatile than would be the case if it had a more diversified investment portfolio. For full details of the Fund's risks, please see the prospectus and supplement sections entitled 'Risk Factors'.
