PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The fund posted a negative return during the month, as did the fund's benchmark. Global markets were unsettled by the US decision to launch airstrikes on Iran and the subsequent closure of the Strait of Hormuz, a critical conduit for global oil and gas supplies, which materially disrupted global trade. As a result, March saw broad-based stress across financial markets. Asia Pacific and Emerging Markets were the most adversely affected, while the US proved comparatively resilient but still negative for the month. This divergence largely reflected the greater dependence of Asian and Emerging Market economies on energy supplies transiting through the Strait of Hormuz. The shock was widespread, with even traditional safe havens such as gold and global fixed income delivering negative performance.

Within equities, our more defensive strategies, such as Polar Global Insurance and Sector Healthcare Value, were the strongest performers over the month. Both funds invest in businesses which have revenues less tied to the global business cycle and therefore held up better than other parts of the market. US-focused funds also held up relatively well, supported by the same dynamics. In contrast, Veritas Asia and Prusik Asian Equity Income were the weakest performers, reflecting the broad-based sell-off across Asian equity markets.

The fixed income book fell in aggregate, although less than the equity positions. It was the short-duration corporate bond exposure which was the most resilient, whilst there was weaker performance from PIMCO Income and Bluebay. Within alternatives, catastrophe bonds delivered positive returns over the month, benefiting from the absence of any notable catastrophic events. By contrast, following a very strong run, gold was weaker in the month as investors took some profits.

INVESTOR PROFILE

The Fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds, it is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and looking for capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment. Investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

- Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return
- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- Do not intend to invest for the long term
