INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE & PHILOSOPHY

The Fund aims to achieve long-term capital growth. The Fund aims to invest mainly in equities on the UK Alternative Investment Market ('AIM'). This will be achieved by an actively managed diversified portfolio of shares spread across any sector of AIM. In addition, the Fund may on occasion invest in fully listed shares of companies with smaller market capitalisations.

FUND COMMENTARY

Global stock markets experienced a mixed performance in April with the S&P 500 performing strongly and smaller gains in Asian stock markets, but the UK broader market lagged with the FTSE All-Share making smaller gains on UK political concerns. However, within AIM sector the new Tax year brought new investor demand with a stronger performance. The US rally can be attributable to the ceasefire between US and Iran and hopes of a settlement leading to opening of the Straits of Hormuz. However, the US blockade of Iranian shipping means that an imminent settlement is less likely. In the meantime, the situation has led again to a sharp rise in oil and gas prices. Understandably, UK inflation in March increased from 3.0% to 3.3% and is likely to move higher unless the Middle East situation unravels with a lasting positive outcome. Central Banks kept US, UK and European interest rates unchanged, but aspirations will be dampened and these are likely to rise to reflect the inflationary effect on global economies. Moving forward, until the outlook becomes clearer, stock markets are likely to be volatile.

We have reduced several of our holdings including Ashtead Tech (oil services) after a strong performance and the move from AIM to a main market listing, and have disposed of our entire holding in Van Elle (plant hire) following the announcement of an agreed takeover offer for the company. This has enabled us to add to several holdings, and we have started new holdings in Nichols (soft drinks) and AdvancedAdvt (software). Both companies are attractively rated, are growing strongly and have strong balance sheets. As already stated, since the start of the April financial year, we have seen improving sentiment for shares listed on AIM. Coupled with some AIM companies moving to the main market there is becoming an increasing scarcity of companies eligible for inheritance tax purposes, and we feel that the fund is well placed to take advantage of this technical situation. Equally our above average weighting in the Oil & Gas sectors should be positive for performance even if energy prices do not maintain sustained current high levels. Despite the global uncertainties, we feel well placed moving forwards.

RISK PROFILE

The following risks are material:

- The price of units/shares and any income from them may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. There is no assurance that the investment objective of the Fund will actually be achieved.
- Where investments are in the shares of companies (equities), the value of those equities may fluctuate, sometimes dramatically, in response to the activities and results of individual companies or because of general market and economic conditions or other events.
- Significant exposure to a particular industrial sector or geographical region puts the Fund at risk of a localised event making a significant impact on the value of the Fund.
- Shares purchased on the AIM markets (especially those known as 'penny shares') carry a higher degree of risk of losing money than other UK shares.

- The requirements on companies that are listed on AIM market are less stringent than those for companies with a full market listing.
- There is usually a wider spread between the buying price and the selling price of these shares if they have to be sold quickly.
- There may be difficulty or delay in buying and selling shares due to a low level of trading activity on the AIM market (referred to as lack of liquidity).

All the risks currently identified as being applicable to the Fund are set out in the 'Risk' section of the Prospectus.

INVESTOR PROFILE

The Fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds. It is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and are seeking capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment and investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The Fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return

- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- Do not intend to invest for the long term
