INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE & PHILOSOPHY

FUND COMMENTARY

Having broken through the 10,000-level reaching new highs the FTSE 100 continued its positive momentum through the first month of the year and confidence appeared to be returning to the smaller end of the market and particularly AIM which outperformed by a larger amount. However, the main talking point was the huge rise in commodity prices and particularly gold and silver which surged to new highs but subsequently fell back at the end of the month. Investors became nervous about President Trump's reaction to the civil unrest in Iran and commodities have been seen as the "safe haven". The US trade deficit was the lowest since 2009 with trade tariffs causing imports to fall by 3.2% and tariff income has been seen to partially finance the proposed rise in US defence spending to $1.5 trillion from $901 billion. In the UK, Public Sector Borrowing fell to £11.6 billion which was less than the £13 billion forecast and defence spending is set to increase by 2.6% of GDP by 2027. Interest rates remained unchanged in both the US and UK with UK inflation rising to 3.4% in December against 3.2% in the previous month due to one off factors and a lower trend is likely to resume going forward. A change in the head of the US Federal Reserve may well achieve President Trump's ambition to lower interest rates even though the US Dollar has been weak.

We have reduced some of our larger outperforming holdings to take advantage of a stronger trend in the London Stock Market. There were no new holdings but additions were made to Inspiration Healthcare (medical equipment) after the company announced a significant US purchasing order delivered over a three year agreement, Van Elle (piling contractor) good recovery prospects supported by a positive trading statement, and Kooth (mental health software) in a placing to clear an overhang at a significant discount and subsequently announced a new contract with a US state to provide services. Of significance, the decline in the share price after its results were announced allowed us to add to MS International (industrial/defence) which remains our largest holding. Trading statements have generally been encouraging, and AIM shares have begun to out-perform larger listed shares. The report of companies moving from AIM to the main market are driving specialist IHT funds to recycle funds. There is an increasing demand to find suitable investments, and in that respect, feel that the fund portfolio is well placed to benefit. Equally, as we are not obliged to sell when a company moves from AIM, we can therefore take advantage of any future share price appreciation. We have been encouraged by recent trading statements stating that generally many of our holdings are in line or exceeding market expectations. Looking ahead, we would anticipate that interest rates will decline and UK inflation is forecast to be under control. So in summary, we are encouraged by the improved performance from smaller companies and particularly those listed on AIM and feel positive on the outlook.

RISK PROFILE

The following risks are material:

- The price of units/shares and any income from them may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. There is no assurance that the investment objective of the Fund will actually be achieved.
- Where investments are in the shares of companies (equities), the value of those equities may fluctuate, sometimes dramatically, in response to the activities and results of individual companies or because of general market and economic conditions or other events.
- Significant exposure to a particular industrial sector or geographical region puts the Fund at risk of a localised event making a significant impact on the value of the Fund.

- Shares purchased on the AIM markets (especially those known as 'penny shares') carry a higher degree of risk of losing money than other UK shares.
- The requirements on companies that are listed on AIM market are less stringent than those for companies with a full market listing.
- There is usually a wider spread between the buying price and the selling price of these shares if they have to be sold quickly.
- There may be difficulty or delay in buying and selling shares due to a low level of trading activity on the AIM market (referred to as lack of liquidity).

All the risks currently identified as being applicable to the Fund are set out in the 'Risk' section of the Prospectus.

INVESTOR PROFILE

The fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds. It is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and are seeking capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment and investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return

- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- Do not intend to invest for the long term
