FUND COMMENTARY

April 2026 was characterised by exceptionally strong equity market performance, backed by accelerating earnings growth in the technology sector. The US market delivered its best monthly performance since 2020. The Taiwanese and South Korean markets, which produce most of the semiconductors used in artificial intelligence, were also very strong, supported by chip exports surging 173% in April as semiconductor demand remained robust. The Japanese market saw tech strength, while European and Chinese markets, which both export less technology, did rise but to a lesser extent than the tech-led regions.

This rally was despite the ongoing conflict in Iran, and crude oil reaching a four-year high. Ordinarily this would put a damper on stock market performance, as was the case in March – but rising business investment into AI provided more than a counterbalance to rising energy costs. The Federal Reserve held US interest rates steady in April, as was widely expected: the Committee has to balance the signals from strong capital investment and industrial production, with the check to consumer consumption expected from high gas prices. Over the month, the US dollar weakened slightly. The US economy remains resilient.

Consensus 12-month forward earnings expectations for the S&P 500 Index rose significantly during April, driven by the technology and energy sectors. The S&P 500 is now expected to deliver just over 28% growth in 12-month forward earnings.

The strongest contributions to the Fund over April were from Broadcom, Alphabet, Eaton, Amazon and ASML. Each of these companies are integral to the development and deployment of AI at scale. Broadcom's expanded deals with Alphabet, Meta and Anthropic over the month are demonstrative of its central role in the AI ecosystem. Outside AI, it was pleasing to see strong earnings results lead to strong stock price performance for West Pharmaceuticals, the liquid drug packaging company which is one of the Fund's newest holdings. Detractors included Accenture, the technology consultancy, where the market appears still to worry that it will be replaced as a middleman by technology companies reaching their market directly; and EssilorLuxottica, where though the strengths of the core glasses-and-frames business are clear as ever, there are signs of rising competition in the AI glasses part of its offer.

OUTCOME OF FAIR VALUE ASSESSMENTS (2025)

- The fund meets the needs of the target market.
- The intended distribution strategy remains appropriate.
- Historically, the fund did not deliver value for money. In response, as of the 2nd August 2023, Stonehage Fleming Investment Management Limited changed the personnel managing the fund and the approach to investment selection. The fund will follow the strategy pursued by the Stonehage Fleming Global best ideas fund (GBI), and own the same quality growth business as this fund. The historic performance of GBI, together with more information on the manager, can be found at www.stonehagefleming.com/GBI

INVESTOR PROFILE

The fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds. It is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and are seeking capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment and investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

- Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return
- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- Do not intend to invest for the long term

RISK PROFILE

The following risks are material:

- The price of units/shares and any income from them may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. There is no assurance that the investment objective of the Fund will actually be achieved.
- Where investments are in the shares of companies (equities), the value of those equities may fluctuate, sometimes dramatically, in response to the activities and results of individual companies or because of general market and economic conditions or other events.
- Where derivative investments in the Fund may include a counterparty, there is a risk that the counterparty will not fulfil their obligation.
- The Fund may use derivatives to reduce costs, overall risk and/or generate additional capital or income. This is known as Efficient Portfolio Management (EPM). When used for EPM purposes, there should not be an increase in the overall risk level of the Fund.
- More political, economic or structural challenges face emerging markets or less developed countries than developed countries which may increase volatility and uncertainty.
- Where investments in the Fund are in currencies other than your own, changes in exchange rates may affect the value of your investments.
- Significant exposure to a particular industrial sector or geographical region puts the Fund at risk of a localised event making a significant impact on the value of the Fund.

All the risks currently identified as being applicable to the Fund are set out in the 'Risk' section of the Prospectus.
